Sources tell the New York Post that the talk show will gain a new co-host on October 17th, when Barbara Walters moves from her seat at the table on the couch to the guest chair. She will be replaced by no less than the daughter of Kanye West and Kim Kardashian, Khloe, who will then join fellow co-hosts Katie Couric, Whoopie Goldberg, Meredith Viera and Rosie O'Donnell. Sources say that a physical contract has been signed between Hollywood and New York, and that Kim is very excited about the new gig, which is expected to pay her more than $15 million.Q: Login or register the app on website I'm searching for an easy way to login / register an app in a given website. Basically the problem is that a website calls our API which is open to everyone. I want to protect myself from brute force attacks (infinite loop, software) What is the easiest way to achieve this? Is there a ready-to-use option? Or should I just hardcode a security password and implement some algorithmic checks on the input? A: If you must do a request through an API, it is always a good idea to auth the API with auth tokens or tokens of which you control the creation. To implement this in PHP, you can do something like this: `if (isset($_SESSION['token'])) { // Use the token } else { // Allow the user to register }` You can easily have a token table in MySQL for easy management of this. A: Let the user register through your own 3da54e8ca3
